TO OPTIMIZE THE PARTICIPATION OF THE PARENTS

We recommend a ratio of 1 adult by 10 children who will participate actively in the initiation of the children of your group.

Here is a partial list of the roles assigned to the accompanying adults :

- Dressing : ski boots, helmets, etc.
- Security : help instructors and patrollers in compliance with the instructions
- Magic Carpet : control the distance of boarding
- Encourage the children in their learning
- Enjoy a day outdoors
- Return of equipments : remove ski boots, helmets, etc.
- Verify that children forget nothing (mittens, hats...)

We count on you to pass on the information to the accompanying adults while reminding them to dress for the rigors of winter.

The direction of school, the organizers and the participants recognize that the practice of a snow sliding sport contains inherent risks of which they must be conscious, accept the risks and assume the whole responsibility for material damage or physical injury resulting from the said risks.

The usage of common sense and caution can help reduce the risks. For an exciting and safe experience, participants must at all times respect the Mountain Code of conduct and show courtesy to the others.
